Huts in the Bahamas

Compass Point, the Bahamas retreat, re-opened its doors in January following a complete refurbishment after standing empty for four years. Accommodation is in 18 'huts', a choice of two-storey cottages or single cabanas. All of them are set back from the beach, overlooking the turquoise sea. Interiors are comfortable with natural wood floors, whitewashed walls and a splash of colour, while extras include flat-screen TVs, CD/DVD players, and wi-fi.

The beach at Compass Point provides myriad activities from snorkelling to land, sea and eco tours, a freshwater pool, and a nearby golf course for parents. The property is 10 minutes from Nassau airport and costs £120 per room per night for a sea-front hut. Reservations: Island Outpost
